VOTERS ARE GOING TO POLLS TODAY IN 32 STATES

Every Indication Republican Forces Will Remain In Control of Congress

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Approximately thirty million voters, men and women, are going to the polls today to elect thirty-four United States senators, 431 members of the house of representatives, thirty-two state governors and to fill thousands of offices of lesser importance.

For the first time in years the voters are going to the ballot boxes without the guiding star of a great national issue. Where, in other years there was the league of nations, the world war or progressivism to divide the electorate along national lines, this year the issues to be decided are conceded by Republicans and Democrats alike to be sectional rather than national and, consequently, difficult of analysis.

The sectionalism of the issues, the marked apathy and indifference manifested in much of the campaign and the spirit of political revolt seen in the summer primaries, have combined to make political leaders, without regard to party, nervous and apprehensive over today's results.

Issues Many, Varied

Taxation, both state and national, the new Republican tariff law, prohibition, ship subsidy and freight rates, the soldiers' bonus, administrative economy, labor policies of various hues including the "living wage," the low prices of farm products — these are but a few of the vast array of issues injected into the campaign by both Democratic and Republican parties.

Theoretically, at least, all are due for decision by the voters today although leaders professed to see considerable confusion ahead for the seekers of the national thought.

The weather for the day's election, always an important factor, is generally bad, according to country-wide reports. In the west there are severe storms in some regions and generally unsettled conditions; while rain is prevalent over a large section of the east.

In the early hours action by party leaders have not changed the aspect of today's election to any appreciable extent. Both Republicans and Democrats stood pat on their predictions of "substantial victory," but authoritative spokesmen for neither party evinced any desire to get specific as to states and pluralities.

Republican Control

The Republicans contented themselves with the general statement that they would be continued in control of the senate and house, "by substantial majorities" ranging from twenty-four to twenty-eight in the senate and from forty to fifty in the house.

Conservative Democratic spokesmen did not dispute Republican control of the senate, but some foresaw the possibility of the Democrats gaining control of the lower branch of congress.

Generally speaking, however, the political prophets on both sides were inclined to agree that the Republicans will keep what they already have in the senate and that the Republican majority of 169 in the house will be cut down to more normal proportions of from twenty-five to fifty.

Hotel Committee In Conference Over Site

Where will Glendale's new hotel be located? Another conference is being held today to ascertain whether the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway will be retained as the site.

Owing to the fact that this corner is on two car lines and two bus lines and to the fact that plans have been prepared for the site, which is somewhat irregular in size and to the fact that the present excavation there is somewhat unsightly and an eyesore to the neighborhood, the hotel committee is reluctant to abandon this location, it says.

However, Anthony Ambrosini has not only raised his price for this property from $66,000 to $85,000, according to Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, chairman of the hotel committee, but he insists upon a cash payment of the total amount due him, which would be $62,000 after the liens of $23,000 have been paid. Under the original agreement, he was to receive second mortgage bonds, it is stated.

War Mothers Will Assemble Tomorrow

An important meeting of the local chapter of War Mothers, of which Mrs. J. B. Sherwood is president, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in American Legion hall at 610 East Broadway. Arrangements for Armistice day will be made. Every war mother in Glendale, whether a member of the chapter or not, is invited to attend.

Plans Being Perfected For Starting Construction of $500,000 Sanitarium Building

CITY COUNCIL IS SILENT ON PLAN TO BUY PARK

Hahne Estate Gives Warning Proposal to Sell Will Be Withdrawn Soon

Will the city administration enlarge Patterson Avenue Park?

This question is being asked with interest about the city hall.

Although the City Council some time ago approved a plan to purchase additional acreage for this park and instructed City Attorney Hartley Shaw to enter into the necessary negotiations with the owners of the property, no definite action has been taken yet and the deal has not been closed.

A communication in regard to this matter from Attorney A. L. Abrams, legal representative of the owners of the property, was read and laid on the table at last night's council meeting.

Issues Warning

"You are hereby notified that the proposal on the part of S. Carl Hahne and Eloise G. Hahne for the sale to you of the following described property—all that portion of lot 1, tract 646 as recorded in map book 15 page 162-163, records of Los Angeles county, California, lying northerly of the Pacific Electric railroad right of way, Burbank branch—must be accepted or rejected by you on or before Friday, the 11th day of November, 1922, at the hour of 3 o'clock p. m.

"Otherwise said proposal will be terminated and withdrawn at said hour on said day. Kindly govern yourselves accordingly."

Initiation Is Held By Legion Auxiliary

The initiation of nine new members featured the regular meeting last night of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Legion hall on East Broadway. Mrs. Chalmer Day, president of the Auxiliary, assisted by her corps of officers, conducted the initiatory ceremony. Those received into the organization were Mesdames Charles T. Jones, Sanker, Hart, Timmesen, Few, Wheeler, Sullivan, Pierce, Secrist and Miss Hart.

Assisting Mrs. Day in initiating them were Mrs. G. H. Rowe, Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. James McBryde, Miss Wells and Miss Delgardo.

Other interesting parts of the meeting were the report on the California Hut maintained for the aid of ex-service men at 1026 S. Figueroa street, Los Angeles, and the poetical accounts by Auxiliary members of how they earned their dollars, which amounted to $29.50.

The report on the California Hut proved of such interest that the Auxiliary voted to take out an annual membership and to assist the Hut in any way possible.

A Kaffee Klatsch for the benefit of the Auxiliary fund is being planned for Monday, November 20, following the afternoon meeting of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Reeves Wins China Set Contest

The Thanksgiving turkey will be served on a new set of china this year at the home of Mrs. T. T. Reeves. Mrs. Reeves is very proud of that set of china, too, for she was awarded it as the prize of a contest which has just closed at the Broadway Hardware store at 205 West Broadway. For the past week the passersby at this establishment has been submitting estimates as to the number of dishes contained in the window display. During the week of the contest more than 1000 estimates were submitted. The one submitted by Mrs. Reeves, 620, was just two off from the correct answer, which was 622.

OFFERS MILITARY AID

ROME, Nov. 7.—Premier Mussolini today offered Italian military aid to the allies if the Turkish nationalists precipitate another war in the near east.

NEW HEALTH PLANT WILL BE LOCATED ON SIGHTLY GROUNDS

A. F. Priest, Architect, Completes Plans and They Are Approved By Adventist Officials

One of the reasons why Glendale is "The fastest growing city of its kind in the United States" is the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, conducted by the Seventh-day Adventists, and with plans being perfected for the launching of construction work on the new $500,000 sanitarium building this institution is destined to become an even more vital part of the civic life and progress.

"Health and Happiness" have always been the key words to the Glendale Sanitarium's success and the inspiring new site between Wilson avenue and Sycamore Canyon road, east of Verdugo road, and the expertly planned and modernly equipped new building will but augment that success.

A. F. Priest of Glendale is the architect for the new Sanitarium and the plans he has made have been heartily approved and accepted by the sanitarium officials.

On Sightly Tract

The new building is to be located on a tract of twenty-eight acres of land. Oak, walnut and various kinds of fruit trees are already thriving on the property and will furnish attractive surroundings for the Sanitarium. The building is to be located on the highest part of the acreage and a winding road arched by native oak trees leads up to it.

According to Mr. Priest's plans the building will be 415 feet long, three stories high on the wings and four stories in the center. There will be 128 private rooms, each with private lavatory and toilet and several with private baths.

Through the main entrance on the first floor one will enter a large lobby and directly back of that will be located a large parlor and dining room.

Various Departments

Back of the main building will be two smaller buildings, each two stories. One building will be for treatments and the other for medical use. In the treatment building there will be one floor devoted to baths and treatment equipment for men and the other floor to baths and treatment equipped for women patients.

On the first floor of the medical building will be doctors' offices and upstairs x-ray and electrical apparatus. Both buildings will be connected to the main hall of the large building.

In the Sanitarium building proper there will be three elevators, two for passenger service and one for freight.

The Sanitarium will be of Class A construction, with steel, brick and concrete used. The building is to be steam heated.

Asks for Permission to Erect Billboards

Permission to erect two billboards was sought last night from the city council in a communication from Ralph Allan, manager of the T. D. and L. Theare, in behalf of Turner, Dahnken & Langley. The request was laid on the table for further discussion.

"We hereby make application for the privilege of erecting and maintaining several regular sized bill boards within the city limits of Glendale and in accordance with the city ordinance and upon verification will tender our check for $15, the yearly license charge," states the letter.

"Billboards are to be erected in compliance with the specifications and requirements of the ordinance and special note is called to the following as requested.

"These several billboards will average approximately ten and one-half feet from ground to top including the one and one-half required from the ground to the base of board and will be placed back the equivalent footage from the property line to the heighth of the board from the base to the top.

"The two specific locations so far arranged for, follow: southeast corner of Broadway and San Fernando road, the property of Sophia St. John; and the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Cerritos street, the property of Charles L. Chandler."

Hear About Measures On Today's Ballot

Discussion and debate of thirty-two of the thirty-four items on today's ballot in the time of wo hours and ten minutes was established at the mass meeting held last night at the Glendale high school under the auspices of the Federation of Improvement associations and the P. T. A. Federation and attended by over 300 persons.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell presided at the meeting and L. H. Wilson served as secretary and time keeper.

Among the speakers of prominence taking part were Henry W. Wright, Ralph Criswell, Marion Tracy Whiting, Dr. John R. Haynes, Bert Woodard, Ray Eberhart, C. C. Mack, Dr. Gerard Kaemerling, C. E. Anspach, Dr. J. K. Kilkerson, Dr. J. B. Barrows, Judge Guy Krump, Judson King.

Holds Pet Show In Behalf of Children

Mrs. Charles Marshall of 525 South Central avenue entertained the children of the A-3 class of the Pacific avenue school at a very novel afternoon recently, the nature of which was in the form of a pet show. More than thirty children were present, many of them bringing their live pets, and the children casting their vote to decide the winners, with the following result:

Lewis Brown was awarded the first prize of $1 with a beautiful black and white kitten; Lester Martin came second with a prize of 50 cents, his pet being a nanny goat; Allen W. Marshall booked the third prize of 25 cents with his cat; Winifred Williamson won the fourth prize of 25 cents with a little duckling.

After the show the children had a happy time playing games, with a tug of war, potato race and other features. Following a round of ice-cream they sang "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and were then dismissed to their homes.

P. T. A. to Tender Patriotic Program

A patriotic program is announced for the meeting of the Central avenue P. T. A., Thursday afternoon. The meeting is announced for 3:15 o'clock with the children of the various grades presenting the program followed by Mrs. D. F. Reichard, president, conducting a question box and open meeting.

The room mothers and teachers have been asked to meet at 3 o'clock and assist in seating the parents according to grades for the meeting. Mrs. L. H. Thompson, chairman of the courtesy committee, will have charge of serving tea at the close of the afternoon.

Twenty-Five Lost When Vessel Sinks

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A disaster in the North Sea which claimed the lives of twenty-five German sailors when a German ship foundered in a gale was reported from Grimsby today. A German sailor was picked up by a British trawler and reported that he was the only survivor of the crew of 26 upon a ship that was sunk by a storm.

Kaschub is said to have admitted taking small amounts—$50 and upwards at a time—from the cash drawer of the engineering department for over a period of two years. "I didn't realize as I did it what it meant and then one day something seemed to snap in the back part of my brain and I realized that I could never pay it was discovered.

ELECTION RETURNS WILL BE GIVEN AT EVENING NEWS

Local, State and National Figures Available for the People of Glendale

The Glendale Evening News will give election returns tonight.

This newspaper has arranged to flash returns on a big screen opposite the office. 139 South Brand boulevard, beginning about 7 o'clock.

Also, arrangements have been completed whereby the Shrine Club Orchestra, stationed in the Chamber of Commerce lobby, will entertain with music, starting about 7:30 o'clock.

The International News Service leased wire will bring returns into The Glendale Evening News office from the thirty-two states in which elections are being held today.

This paper's staff will gather the local returns and preliminary and final results will be given out as quickly as obtained.

Those unable to be the guests of this paper to night may secure election results by telephoning to Glendale 132.

Election day is proceeding quietly in Glendale.

Ideal weather conditions are helping to bring out an early vote.

In some precincts a third of the registration had voted before noon and it is being predicted this afternoon that a sixty to seventy per cent vote will be cast.

Nearly 10,000 Voters.

The total registration for the city of Glendale is 9,985, it was stated by City Clerk Van Wie this morning. Incidentally, this total shows the continued rapid growth of Glendale.

There are twenty-eight voting precincts in the city limits and owing to the length of the ballot, with its many propositions, state and county, it is probable that a number of the election board will be counting until well into Wednesday morning.

It is believed, however, that returns from various sections of the state will indicate about 9 o'clock tonight how the gubernational fight is going.

The Glendale Evening News has perfected arrangements for furnishing the very latest and most accurate information tonight and all Glendale is invited to be the guest of this paper.

Warmer Atmosphere for Auto Speeders

Speeders and other offenders of the law henceforth will not need to sit shivering in awe of the police court until "het up" by the fiery words of Judge F. H. Lowe.

The City Council last night decided that the warmth of the court room-council chamber was a subject of proper legislative action.

Councilman Sam Davis reported that it would cost about $240 to install three gas-steam radiators of sufficient size to heat the room.

Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson remarked that the duty of the council was perfectly plain.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin suggested that the heaters should be installed at once.

City Clerk A. J. Van Wie drew up the necessary formal resolution.

If you get a court summons when the work is finished, you can leave your overcoat home.

Miss Roberta Winans In Recreational Work

The most important event to the committee in the organization of Glendale's community service program is the telegram received this morning from the National Community Service headquarters in New York stating that Miss Roberta Winans, recreational instructor, will arrive in Glendale early next week to take charge of a local recreational institute to last three or four weeks.

Upon Miss Winans' arrival a definite program will be announced and activities begun.

Local Music Club Meets November 18

REPUBLICANS TO WIN, IS CLAIMED

Party Will Sweep California at Polls Today; Weather Rainy In North

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Clear skies and sunshine broke through the rain this morning in the bay region and Registrar of Voters J. Harry Zemansky declared that he looked for a vote of approximately 120,000 here today.

This would be a record vote for an election other than presidential as, two years ago when Harding was running, with good weather the vote was 150,000. The vote in the September primaries was 110,006.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—Voters of San Francisco and the bay region will "do their duty" today in rainy weather, according to District Forecaster G. H. Wilson. What effect the prediction of inclement weather will have on the voting is conjectural.

Political leaders, however, believe the vote will be heavy because of the keen interest in the gubernatorial contest and the water and power controversy.

Re-election of Senator Hiram Johnson by an overwhelming majority—his campaign managers claim by the greatest vote of his career—is a foregone conclusion, according to representative Republicans.

With the exception of the first and second congressional districts where Democratic incumbents are conceded to be strongly intrenched, the Republicans are expected to sweep the state.

Express Confidence

Democrats today maintain that Thomas Lee Woolwine, their candidate for governor, will receive sufficient progressive Republican votes in addition to those of regular Democrats to assure him of a 50,000 plurality over Friend W. Richardson, the Republican candidate.

Richardson's campaign managers are equally optimistic. They point out that the Republicans are overwhelmingly in the majority and for that reason Richardson is certain of election by at least a 75,000 majority.

Keen interest is being displayed in the Wright enforcement act which would place the problem of enforcement of the national prohibition act on the shoulders of city and state as well as federal officers.

'BLUE LAWS' ARE NOW BEING MADE

National Woman's Party Is Framing Most Equitable Measures In States

WASHINGTON. — A series of what the National Woman's Party characteristically terms "best laws," dealing with marriage, divorce, guardianship of children, married women's property rights, jury service, and women in industry is being drafted by the executive department of the National Woman's Party for presentation to state legislatures.

The laws will be modeled on those of states having the most equitable laws, from the women's viewpoint, and will be presented for indorsement at the conference to be held here Nov. 11 and 12.

"The purpose of this new plan is to make our campaign not only a negative one, removing discriminations against women from our laws, but also a positive one, substituting the highest form of equality," said Miss Maud Younger, legislative chairman. Continuing, she said:

Louisiana Law Best

"One of the best laws on 'support' is that of Louisiana, where the law states that husband and wife pledge to each other mutual fidelity, aid and assistance. One of the best laws on alimony is that of Ohio, where husband or wife may receive alimony from the other.

"One of the best laws on dower and courtesy is that in Virginia, where each sex is made equal to the other. In other states there are good inheritance laws, good guardianship laws, good laws as to jury service. In some states laws regulating industry provide equal protection for men and women workers and are therefore to be preferred to laws which merely regulate women.

"This information has been compiled by the Woman's Party Legal Research Department and is being put into legislative form, for action by state branches. Such laws have the advantage of being already on the statute books, enforced, an dinterpreted by the courts. There should, therefore, be no difficulty in having them passed by other states."

Savant Says Kisses Are Bad for Girls

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 7.—"Insanitary and immoral," is the characterization of the kiss presented by Dr. Robert O. Moody, professor of anatomy at the University of California, in a lecture before the local police department.

"Modern young people who indulge in frequent 'spooning' parties are lowering the moral standards of the country. Allowing a young man to take kissing liberties with her has been the first step in the ruin of many a girl," Dr. Moody said.

Storms Expected to Cut Colorado Vote

DENVER, Nov. 7.—From Wyoming come reports that the severe blizzards of Saturday have seriously affected road travel, and is expected to cut down the total votes cast today, but both Republicans and Democrats were claiming advantage from this fact.

Senator John B. Kendrick and Frank W. Mondell, Republican, in the house, were engaged in a hot fight for the United States senatorship.

The fight of Mrs. Adelino Otero-Warren for a seat in congress from New Mexico was being watched with great interest and the senatorial race between Senator A. A. Jones, Democrat, and R. B. Davis, Jr., Republican, is a spirited one. It was predicted that more than 100,000 votes will be cast in New Mexico today.

Montana's senatorial race was also being bitterly contested between Carl W. Riddick, Republican, and B. K. Wheeler, Democrat, with early prediction favoring the selection of Riddick.

The precipitation that prevailed on the Pacific coast had not yet reached the Rocky mountain region, but an increasing cloudiness was the offering of the weather bureau in this section.

Local Talent Gives Expression Recital

Mrs. Verna S. Mitchell and Miss Lilla Litch, members of the faculty of the Emerson School of Self-Expression, shared honors last night in a teachers' recital given at the school studio on South Glendale avenue.

Mrs. Mitchell, who is instructor in dramatics, gave in a clever and talented manner Tennyson's "Enoch Arden." She was assisted by Miss Litch, who played the Richard Strauss' piano accompaniment.

It was a most artistic and talented program and the Glendale and Los Angeles people attending complimented both artists on their splendid success.

DEFRAUD U. S. OF HUGE SUM, CLAIM

War Profiteers Fail to Pay Government 100 Million In Profit Taxes

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7.—The government has been defrauded of more than $100,000,000 through the failure of war profiteers to pay excess profits taxes and the evaders will be compelled to settle in full the back taxes due or to go to jail, it was declared officially at the treasury department.

Munitions manufacturers and makers of other necessary war supplies needed by the government during the war with Germany were said to be among the chief offenders in this tax slacker class.

The campaign of the treasury through the bureau of internal revenue to round up tax evaders has brought to light amazing instances of tax dodging, but has revealed information which will be made the basis of criminal prosecution by the department of justice of individuals and concerns now shown to have charged the government unjustifiable prices for war materials.

Opens Fresh Avenues

The tax drive has opened up fresh avenues of inquiry through which officials predict enormous sums of money paid out loosely upon war contracts can be recovered by the treasury.

The extent of tax dodging by war profiteers was not fully known until a recheck was made of the audit of 1917 tax returns, in connection with the attorney general's probe of war department and shipping board contracts. Returns for 1917 as well as 1918, years in which individuals and concerns, suddenly amassed great wealth in war material deals, showed that in hundreds of cases, deliberate attempts were made to falsify returns.

Save More Miners; Place Dead at 80

SPANGLER, Pa., Nov. 7. — Thirty-two miners have been rescued alive and the bodies of forty-nine other men who were dead were taken out of the Reilly mine up to 8 o'clock this morning. The number of dead is now fixed at eighty in what is likely the most serious bituminous coal mine disaster in central Pennsylvania in a decade.

Some of the men taken from the mine are in a critical condition and several may not live.

The bodies of the dead were taken to the miners' hall while the living were taken to the Spangler hospital. Twenty-two of the bodies were identified by relatives.

As each relief of rescuers appears at the surface relatives besiege them for information about men yet unaccounted for. But there was little information given.

Most of the rescued men now at the Spangler hospital were reported to be doing well this morning and a majority stand an excellent chance of recovery. All were overcome by gas fumes following the explosion.

The work of identification was resumed today at the temporary morgue at the miners' hall. A large crowd gathered around the doors. A cordon of state police kept the morbidly curious away.

Middle West Gets Fair Election Day

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. — Fair weather prevailing through the middle west today was expected to bring a heavy vote to the polls.

In Indiana and Iowa, where the senatorial campaigns have attracted wide interest, early voting was reported fully as heavy as had been predicted.

Illinois, too, went to the polls early. In Chicago, where the question of light wines and beer was an issue, the voting during the forenoon was comparatively heavy. Seven thousand policemen and private detectives watched the ballot boxes in Chicago.

Los Angeles County Proves Puzzle Zone to Politicians; Voting Is Heavy

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7. — Southern California's voting populace, approximately 750,000 strong, went to the polls today to elect state and county officers and United States senator.

Ideal weather conditions greeted the voters and a large vote was expected with the opening of the polls.

Chief interest is centered in the races for United States senator, the governorship, the Wright prohibition enforcement act and the water and power act.

However, the race for United States senator might as well be forgotten as it was almost a certainty that Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican nominee and incumbent, would be re-elected by a wide margin.

As the voting started the race for governor between Thomas Lee Woolwine and Friend W. Richardson stood out most prominently in the minds of the voters. Headquarters of both candidates issued last minute statements claiming their candidate would win by a safe majority. Representatives for Woolwine said he will win the governorship by 50,000 votes, while backers of Richardson claim he will win by 2 to 1 over Woolwine.

L. A. Puzzle Zone

Los Angeles county with a voting population of around 450,000 is admitted to be the puzzle zone, and that the voting of this county can generally be counted upon to govern the state results.

Off-hand estimates are that Woolwine will carry the city of Los Angeles, but it is known that Richardson is much stronger in the small communities in other southern California counties than Woolwine. Whether the combined vote of the small town can overshadow the heavy Los Angeles city vote is a matter of dispute. Woolwine advocates claim only Ventura and Santa Barbara counties, plus the Los Angeles city vote, in southern California vote, it is said, and is laying claim to a heavy vote north of the Tehachapi. Richardson managers also claim the northern counties.

Wet Election Day In State of Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 7.—Oregon will have a wet election day. The weather bureau's forecast indicates that rain will fall today in all parts of the state, with the coast section in the grip of a severe storm.

Although political managers admitted Monday night that unfavorable weather may cut down the vote somewhat, they still believed that more Oregon voters will go to the polls today than ever before, with the possible exception of the presidential election of 1916. Interest in the campaign has been so great, they said, that comparatively few of the voters will be kept at home by the rain.

In spite of Monday night's rain the two state chairmen and their workers put the finishing touches to their campaigns and again expressed themselves as confident of victory.

What The Kidneys Do

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily. when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—which vary widely but may include pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right the danger is overcome. Doan's Kidney Pills have proven an effective kidney medicine.

J. M. Smith, 1571 East Thirty-third street, Los Angeles, Calif., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in good condition and I gladly recommend them. I had severe backaches that made it difficult for me to do any stooping or lifting. My kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon cured me. My back is now well and strong and I have had no further trouble."

NEAR EAST FACES GRAVE SITUATION

False Move by Soldiers of Either Faction Likely to Start Trouble

LONDON, November 7.—A ministerial council today took up the near east situation which foreign office officials admit "is more critical than at any other time."

A false move may precipitate hostilities, it was said.

British soldiers were attacked in Constantinople and four of them stabbed.

A threatening situation has arisen at Chanak (the British Mediterranean naval position on the Dardanelles) where Turkish gendarmes are pushing against the British lines and are stopping British military patrols from advancing past the three mile limit.

General Sir Charles Harrington, British commander in Turkey, has advised Ismet pasha, envoy of the Angora government at Constantinople, that he has no authority to reply to the new demands of the Turks and must refer them to London.

Turks Close Courts.

The Turks at Constantinople have closed the British and mixed courts which threaten to wipe out the so-called capitulations.

The international sanitary commission has been closed by the Turks and Ottoman subjects have been forbidden to leave Constantinople.

The minister of interior in the Sultan's cabinet, Kemal Bey has been arrested. The allies have lodged a protest.

Many officials view the Turkish demands as a diplomatic maneuver to test the solidarity of the allies during the British and Italian political upheavals.

The allied high commissioners in Constantinople are marking time for the present awaiting Angora's next move. The Sultan's palace is under military guard. The populace has been reassured by the allies' stand, especially their refusal to withdraw warships that are patrolling the Dardanelles, Sea of Marmora and Bosphorus.

Woolwine Married Twenty Years Today

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—If Thomas Lee Woolwine is elected governor of California today he will have two reasons to feel happy and celebrate.

Besides being election day it is Mr. and Mrs. Woolwine's twentieth wedding anniversary.

Many messages wishing them happiness were received by the Democratic candidate and his wife today from all parts of the state.

Missouri Senatorial Fight Holds Interest

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—Early indications today were that a heavy vote would be cast in Missouri. The weather was ideal. Chief interest centered in the race between Senator Reed, Democrat, and R. R. Brewster, Republican, for the United States senatorship from Missouri.

A GLENDALE WOMAN SAID—

"Why should I buy wash garments that fade, when I can get garments that are absolutely fast-color?"

Since the introduction of Everfast fabrics to the textile world, women have learned the difference between socalled fast-color fabrics and those that are actually fast, and fast to everything.

That Everfast Wash Fabrics are absolutely fast-color has been proved in scores of tests. They've been tubbed and scrubbed with the strongest washing powders and laundry soaps, boiled with soda, exposed for hours under glass to the scorching sun, hung for days in wind, rain and salt air. Tested with perspiration and uric acid. And in not one test was the color affected in the least degree.

So sure are we of Everlast fabrics that we guarantee every yard we sell. If any Everlast fabric fades, we will refund to you not only the purchase price of the material, but the making cost of the garment as well.

Also a wonderful cloth for draperies.

VARIED ASSORTMENT

The theft of four boxes of candy, one carton of cigarettes and a silk shirt has been reported by Joe Kucero, custodian of American Legion hall.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL TRUCK

An attempt to steal the truck of the W. C. Page Furniture company was fustrated about 1 o'clock last night when the neighborhood was aroused by the sound of the rear end of the vehicle hitting the front end of a staunch board fence.

The truck was left in the rear of the store at 308 East Broadway.

Not being familiar with the Reo gear shift the party, who was attempting to make away witn the truck, slipped the gear into reverse instead of first speed. As a result it backed into a fence.

Mr. Page believes that the person who was interested in borrowing the truck, had a wholesale burglary job on his hands.

BURGLARY ATTEMPT FAILS

An attempt to break into the Park Avenue Pharmacy on the northwest corner of Park avenue and Brand boulevard was frustrated last night about 2:15 when a man, who was trying to get in, was frightened away by Detective E. S. Boucher. Before the officer, who was in plain clothes, could reach the spot, the man had run up the street and disappeared.

STORE BEING IMPROVED

An ornamental front is being added to the dry goods store of Carl Anderson at 516 East Broadway by Mr. Anderson's father, W. A. Anderson. The improvement consists of display windows on either side of the entrance. They have been desired for some time and Carl Anderson, whose cheerfulness never is absent despite the fact that he is obliged to navigate in a wheel chair, hopes that they will be completed this week or next.

RAISE IN SIGNATURES

The Tropic of Cancer isn't changed every day in the week and the City Council sees no reason why the building restriction zones should be changed every ten days either. As a result, last night it passed a regulation requiring the signatures of 75 per cent of the property owners interested, instead of 50 per cent as heretofore, before it will change any of the zones now existing.

Number of People Spend Sunday In Visiting; Notes, Brief News Mentions of Live Section

A family of "bears" has now located in Southern Glendale.

H. H. Bear and has brother, W. R. Bear, and their families, all recent arrivals from Madison, Ind., are now moving into the two-story residence at 1438 South San Fernando road. They have leased the automobile service station on the northwest corner of San Fernando and Los Feliz roads from W. E. Anderson, and contemplate extensive improvements in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Reichenbach, of 1514 Gardena avenue, were visited last week by Mrs. Cloe Craig of San Francisco.

S. W. Brown, manager of the S. W. Brown Beverage company, at 463 West Los Feliz road, is expected back today from San Francisco, where he has been attending the state kiwanis convention.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Moore, of 1411 Gardena avenue, Sunday motored to Alhambra.

A front room in the new establishment of the Moore-Cully Cabinet company, at 456 South San Fernando road, is now being fitted up either for a firm selling real estate or electric fixtures. Considering the number of contractors who pass the premises on their way to the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company, at 460 West Los Feliz road, and the number of motorists who drive by on their way to Los Angeles and Hollywood, F. E. Moore believes the location is ideal for either business.

Seventy-five cents is the price of a house which is for sale at 1413 South San Fernando road, by the South Glendale Variety store.

However, it is a knock-down cardboard house, intended to delight the kiddies. R. E. Weber, who has charge of the store, says that it will do that, too.

The wedding of Miss Kiyo Funatsu to Ikuji Nakamura Sunday afternoon in the Tropico Presbyterian church, was attended by a large number of residents in Southern Glendale. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tokutaro Funatsu.

The Atlas Upholstery Shop, at 1517 South San Fernando road, is operated by Louis Scalla of Los Angeles.

Southern Glendale is getting "all het-up!"

That is the opinion of J. M. Wilson, manager of the establishment at 1733 South San Fernando road, owned by the Wilson-Bell Hardware company. Yesterday he confessed to the difficulty of supplying the district fast enough with gas heaters. Of course he does not insinuate that his customers are either cold-blooded or cold-hearted.

A. F. Barrett, proprietor of the Triangle Filling Station, at 1700 South San Fernando road, says that he has gone into the book selling business.

However, the books to which he has reference are coupon books issued by the Ventura Oil company and good as gold towards the purchase of any Ventura products—gasoline, oil or grease. They entitle the holder to a 5 per cent discount.

Roy, small son of Jack Harrison, of 1508 South San Fernando road, yesterday was bitten by a dog. The beast reached up and nipped the child's left hand. The youngster was taken immediately to a physician to have the wound examined.

The Tyre Shop is the name of a tire vulcanizing shop opened at 1414 South San Fernando road by F. M. Irby, who arrived recently with his family from Lewiston, Idaho. Ajax tires will be sold, but repair work will be done on all makes.

The Russell-Pierce Furniture company are now unpacking a shipment of cedar chests just received from the east. This makes excellent Christmas presents, according to Ralph Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McBurney of 1508 South San Fernando road were visited recently by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Springer, neighbors of theirs in Fremont, Ia., who are now spending the winter in Long Beach.

H. M. Bradbury of the Glendale Carpet and Mattress Works, 1511 South San Fernando road, and family motored to Artesia Sunday.

Southern Glendale's moving picture theatre, which will be located at 1613 South San Fernando road, will become an actuality before long. Actual construction work is to be commenced within the next few days.

The site is now ready for the building, and the only thing which is delaying the excavation work is the absence of the steam shovel. As soon as this can finish the job it is working on now, it will be moved to the scene. Promoters of the project hope this can be done this week.

Although the building will not have a basement, the sloping floor of the theatre requires considerable excavation.

Rabbits don't look much like quail, but they "smell" almost as good according to Allan M. Fairchild, of 1036 Boynton street. He motored to a 400-acre ranch near Santa Sussana Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Fairchild.

The object was to shoot quail. However, the aforesaid mentioned quail refused to come out and be shot. As a result, Mr. Fairchild had to content himself with potting rabbits. He got one large jack and about eleven fat cottontails.

"The joke of the thing was that we had a big roast in the oven for our Sunday dinner," he remarked. "So we gave every one of the rabbits away."

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nash are now awaiting the arrival of their stock of merchandise for their dry goods store at 1728 South San Fernando road. The fixtures have now been installed and the establishment will be ready for business as soon as the merchandise arrives. It will consist of shoes as well as dry goods, notions and furnishings for both men and women.

Much curiosity reigns in Southern Glendale as to the date for the opening at 1726 South San Fernando road of the Commercial Savings & Commercial Bank. Fixtures have now been partially installed and the interior of the store will be ready for occupancy in the near future.

W. W. Lee is the president of this new bank; John A. Logan is vice-president, and H. J. Wellman is cashier. Members of the board of directors are: Dan Campbell, chairman; Max Bayha, George Bentley, George V. Black, Hubert L. Eaton, George B. Karr and W. C. B. Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fairchild, who recently drove across the continent from New York City, are well pleased with California, according to their son, Allan N. Fairchild.

A few days after their arrival, they motored to San Diego. They are expected back again this week and will spend a large part of the winter in Glendale, at the Fairchild home, at 1036 Boynton street.

The entire trip from the Atlantic coast was made in about seventeen days. During the first seven days they made 1500 miles. They came via Kansas City and paused en route at the Grand Canyon.

Allan N. Fairchild's office is located at 1725 South Brand boulevard, where he is manager for the Jenny-Marquis-Ford Realty company.

Births

A. T. Blanford, supervisor of physical education in the city schools, is proudly announcing the arrival of his second son, born Sunday, Nov. 5, 1922.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pettit of 405 Lincoln avenue announce the birth of a son, Saturday, November 4, 1922. He has been named Paul Edward.

Mrs. Stella Shelton of 1205 Stanley avenue is the mother of a girl born last night, Monday, November 6, 1922, at the Glendale Research hospital.

Deaths and Funerals

DAVID OLIVER

Funeral services for David Oliver, former resident of Glendale, were held at 1 o'clock this afternoon, Tuesday, November 7, 1922, under the direction of Kiefer and Eyerick, in the Little Church of the Flowers.

Mrs. Phillips' Smile Is Issue In Trial

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7.—Clara Phillips' smile became an issue today in her trial for the hammer murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows.

From Dr. E. B. Hoag, the first defense alienist to testify, Fricke obtained an admission which made Mrs. Phillips' smile, a vital question in the case.

Dr. Hoag testified that Mrs. Phillips is insane and was stricken with a psychic epilepsy seizure at the time of the murder.

"Isn't it a fact, doctor, that persons afflicted with epilepsy exhibit grief when told they committed an outrage during an epileptic seizure?" demanded the prosecutor.

Dr. Hoag admitted that epileptics exhibit great grief and signs of remorse.

Fricke planned today to call witnesses to tell of how Mrs. Phillips smiled after her arrest and how she has failed to show remorse over the death of Mrs. Meadows.

On the other hand, Defense Attorney Herrington, will contend that Mrs. Phillips' smiles are additional proof of her alleged insanity. He will claim that they corroborate her story that her mind became a blank at the scene of the murder and that because she lacks a mental picture of the terrible crime she has apparently been remorseless.

How We Co-operate

Says "Common Cent":

"Imagine, if you can, a world without money. The farmer would have to barter his bushel of wheat for a pair of shoes. If he had two bushels of wheat and needed but a single pair of shoes, he would have to put his spare bushel aside, where perhaps, the rats could reach it."

"I was invented as an easy medium of exchange. I help keep the wheels of commerce turning. If you need me not today, lay me by for tomorrow. Winds, storms and pests cannot attack me. I 'stay put' and I multiply—ready until the day comes for you to put me to good use."

Money is perhaps the most sought-after thing in life. Yet money, in itself, is valueless. The miser hoards his coins in nooks and crannies out-of-the-way. But what has he but a pot of cold, hard bits of metal to delight his greedy touch? The wise man sees in money but the means to a definite goal. He stores it not in secret places, but in his Bank, where he sees it grow and work for him—money earning money.

Have you a cherished desire, an ambition to be realized? Drop in and talk things over with us frankly. Let us help you translate a hope into a fact. A small deposit opens your account. Persevere and you will be surprised to see how fast it grows. Start today.

MISS MECK HOSTESS

Miss Henrietta Meck of 321 East Maple street entertained as guests last night members of the Ro-Daire club and a group of their friends.

It was a "hard times" affair and a gay attire of rags made up the grand march preceding dancing.

MRS. NEWTON HOSTESS

Mrs. J. A. Newton of 521 North Jackson street entertained with a shower recently in honor of her sister, Mrs. Robert T. Lyans of 511 North Jackson street. The guests included Mrs. R. K. Lyans, Mrs. O. J. Furst, Mrs. Marion Newton, Mrs. D. G. Langlands, Mrs. W. E. McCormick, Mrs. J. M. Furst, Mrs. Tom Furst and son Tom, Jr., Marjorie Langlands and the hostess. Games were enjoyed during the afternoon and refreshments served.

PLAN FOR FIRST PARTY

The first party of the Sunday school of the Glendale branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints is to be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the K. of P. hall at 1023 South Brand boulevard.

A program of games, stunts, music and other entertainment has been arranged by the social committee and all the church people in Glendale have been invited.

PILGRIMAGE UNDER WAY

The pilgrimage of members of Omar Tent No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, of which Mrs. Orma V. Naudain is worthy matron, to San Diego began this morning by automobile, there being several machines going. Stops will be made at San Juan Capistrano, Coronado, and the members of the party also plan to visit Tia Juana. They will return Thursday.

Last Minute Efforts By Democratic Force

SEATTLE, Nov. 7.—Frenzied efforts to get out the vote marked the senatorial election here today with Democratic spellbinders continuing to the last minute, street corner meetings and house to house canvassing for C. C. Dill. Miles Poindexter forces, more confident of victory than ever, had nothing to say.

Weather conditions were good despite clouds, and a vote of approximately 400,000 is expected throughout the state.

Deserve success and you shall command it.

J. L. Martin Service Is Handy for Trips

"We Motor Anywhere Anytime" is how J. L. Martin describes the service of his taxi service with headquarters at 118½ West Broadway. Mr. Martin has been in business in Glendale for five years and he now has associated with him Jack Hoefer and H. G. Woodard.

"We have all new cars," says Mr. Martin, "and we are prepared to take you any place any time. We like long trips or short ones and if you haven't a car and want to motor, why not consult us?"

Girls Over 16 Years In Guessing Contest

A guessing contest is now in progress among the feminine customers of Pendroy's.

A large oddly shaped pumpkin from Lankershim has been placed in the north front display window by John Sweargin, general merchandise manager. Girls over 16 years of age have the privilege of guessing once a day until November 28 on the number of seeds it contains. The prize is a $30 set of table linen.

A Thanksgiving dinner with a large cardboard turkey as the piece de resistance occupies a prominent place in the window display. The table is surrounded by a display of table linen attractively arranged by Dale Ludwig, window dresser and advertising manager for Pendroy's.

ULTIMATUM TO TURKEY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 7,—The allied high commissioners today sent an ultimatum to the Turkish nationalist government at Angora that allied troops will remain in Constantinople until the near east peace treaty is signed.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Barbara Harding crouched close to the door, listening. She knew that the crucial moment was at hand; that there were at best but a few moments for her to live. A silent prayer rose from her parted lips. She placed the sharp point of Oda Yorimoto's short sword against her breast, and waited—waited for the coming of the men from the room beyond, snatching a few brief seconds from eternity ere she drove the weapon into her heart.

Theriere plunged through the jungle at a run for several minutes before he caught sight of the mucker.

"Are you still on the trail?" he called to the man before him.

"Sure," replied Byrne. "It's dead easy. They must o' been at least a dozen of 'em. Even a mut like me couldn't miss it."

"We want to go carefully, Byrne," cautioned Theriere. "I've had experience with these fellows before, and I can tell you that you never know when one of 'em is near you till you feel a spear in your back, unless you're mighty watchful. We've got to make all haste we can, of course, but it won't help Miss Harding any if we rush into an ambush and get our heads lopped off."

Byrne saw the wisdom of his companion's advice and tried to profit by it; but something which seemed to dominate him today carried him ahead at reckless, breakneck speed—the flight of an eagle would have been all too slow to meet the requirements of his unaccountable haste.

Once he found himself wondering why he was risking his life to avenge or rescue this girl whom he hated so. He tried to think that it was the ransom—yes, that was it, the ransom. If he found her alive, and rescued her he should claim the lion's share of the booty.

Theriere, too, wondered why Byrne, of all the other men upon the Halfmoon the last that he should have expected to risk a thing for the sake of Miss Harding, should be the foremost in pursuit of her captors.

"I wonder how far behind Sanders and Wison are," he remarked to Byrne after they had been on the trail for the better part of an hour. "Hadn't we better wait for them to catch up with us? Four can do a whole lot more than two."

Another half-hour brought them suddenly in sight of a native village, and Billy Byrne was for dashing straight into the center of it and "cleaning it up," as he put it, but Theriere put his foot down firmly on that proposition, and finally Byrne saw that the other was right.

"The trail leads straight toward that place," said Theriere, "so I suppose here is where they brought her, but which of the huts she's in now we ought to try to determine before we make any attempt to rescue her. Well, by George! Now what do you think of that?"

"Tink o' wot?" asked the mucker. "Wot's eatin' yeh?"

"See those three men down there in the village, Byrne?" asked the Frenchman. "They're no more aboriginal head hunters than I am—they're Japs, man. There must be something wrong with our trailing, for it's as certain as fate itself that Japs are not head-hunters."

"There ain't been nothin' fony about our trailin', bo," insisted Byrne, "an' whether Japs are bean collectors or not here's where de ginks dat copped de doll hiked fer, an' if dey ain't dere now it's because they went t'rough an' out de odder side, see."

"Hush, Byrne," whispered Theriere. "Drop down behind this bush. Someone is coming along this other trail to the right of us," and as he spoke he dragged the mucker down beside him.

For a moment they crouched, breathless and expectant, and then the slim figure of an almost nude boy emerged from the foliage close beside and entered the trail toward the village. Upon his head he bore a bundle of firewood.

When he was directly opposite the watchers Theriere sprang suddenly upon him, clapping a silencing hand over the boy's mouth. In Japanese he whispered a command for silence.

"We shall not harm you if you keep still," he said, "and answer our questions truthfully. What village is that?"

"It is the chief city of Oda Yorimoto, Lord of Yoka," replied the youth. "I am Oda Iseka, his son."

"And the large hut in the center of the village street is the palace of Oda Yorimoto?" guessed Theriere shrewdly.

"It is."

FILTER REACTORS

When the plate circuit of a value transmitting set is energized by high voltage rectified A C, a suitable filler unit, to smooth out the rectified pulses, or commutator rippler must be provided. It has been customary heretofore to provide a relatively small inductance unit in combination with a group of condensers of rather large capacity. It is more economical, however, to provide a large inductance unit and a relatively small group of condensers, and as a consequence the reactor shown in the illustration was designed for the purpose.

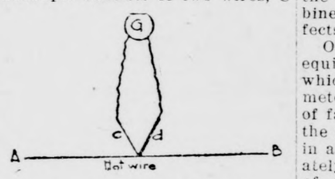
MEASURING INSTRUMENTS

The thermocouple type of ammeter utilizes the fact that when the junction of two dissimilar metals is heated an electromotive force is developed. A pair of metals used for this purpose is called a "thermocouple." The value of the emf. depends on the combination of metals and ordinarily increases directly as the temperature is increased.

In the diagram below the thermocouple consists of two wires, C and D, and their junction is in contact with the hot wire AB, in which the radio frequency current is flowing. The emf. produced by the heat at the junction is applied to G, which is a delicate instrument, either galvanometer or millivoltmeter, and causes a pointer to deflect.



Principle of Thermal Ammeter using Thermocouple

In the diagram the thermocouple to build it with a single heating wire. This is true both for expansion and for the thermocouple type. Several hot wires or strips are therefore used, arranged cylindrically so that the radio currents divide equally among them. Then, either the effect on one of them alone is used to operate the indicating mechanism, or if thermocouples are used, the emfs. of several can be combined in series, so that their effects are added.

On some of the older radio equipments, instruments are found which are incorrectly called "watt meters." They are, as a matter of fact, simply ammeters in which the scale, instead of being marked in amperes, is marked proportionately to the square of the number of amperes. They are properly called "current square meters." ple is made to appear separate from the rest of the instrument; in commercial ammeters the thermocouple and the indicating instrument are placed inside the same case and the scale is made to read the amperes in the radio frequency circuit.

When a hot wire instrument is needed for currents of more than a few amperes, it is not practic-

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CORNSTALKS.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, aren't you glad? Aren't you glad?" cried Baby Bunty, as she hopped over to the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman one morning.

"Well, I'm glad it's such a fine day and that the sun is shining, if that's what you mean," spoke Uncle Wiggily, with a twinkle of his pink nose.

"Oh, I didn't zegzactly mean that," said Baby Bunty, almost stumbling over the hard word. "But aren't you glad today is election?"

"Oh, is it election? I had forgotten about it," laughed the bunny rabbit. "But I don't know that I am particularly glad. No one is going to elect me President or anything like that."

"Nor me, either!" said Baby Bunty with a smile, 'even though girls and women have the vote. But the reason I'm glad is that there isn't any school on account of election day."

"Oh, ho! I see!" laughed Uncle Wiggly. "Well, as long as I don't have to go to school I don't see why I should be glad when there isn't any."

"I'm glad though," laughed Baby Bunty, "and you ought to be glad there isn't any school, 'cause when there isn't any I don't have to go—like today—and you can take me adventuring with you."

"Oh, so I am to take you adventuring, am I," asked the bunny gentleman.

"If you please," spoke Baby Bunty politely. Will you?"

'Oh, I guess so!" agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Come along, we'll hop over the fields and through the woods and see what happens."

As Baby Bunty had said this was election day, and there was no school. All through Woodland where the animal boys and girls lived, there was happiness and jolly good times.

Baby Bunty thought she was having the best time of any one because she was going adventuring with Uncle Wiggily. The bunny gentleman and the little rabbit girl hopped over the fields and through the woods, looking for adventures, but none could they find until Baby Bunty, all of a sudden, called:

'Oh, Uncle Wiggily, I think one is coming?"

"What is coming?" asked Mr. Longears.

Uncle Wiggily looked and exclaimed:

"That's the Woozie Wolf, Baby Bunty."

Well, isn't the Wolf an adventure" asked the little rabbit girl.

"Surely enough—so he is!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Come on, we'd better run away from this adventure!

So they started to hop and run, but the Wolf, having seen them, came racing after them.

"Oh, what shall we do?" cried Baby Bunty, looking back over her shoulder at the Wolf. "I don't like this sort of adventure! What shall we do?"

"We must find some place to hide," said Uncle Wiggily, for he remembered that though he might be able to hop fast enough to get away from the Wolf, Baby Bunty with her short fat legs could hardly keep up. The Wolf would catch her.

"We must hide!" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Where?" asked Baby Bunty. "Where shall we hide?"

Uncle Wiggily looked ahead and saw a field filled with cornstalks which had been cut down and piled into shocks, as they are called. The stalks of corn were dried and were stacked up in piles like little pointed tents shaped like giant ice cream cones turned upside down.

"We'll hide in the cornstalks, Baby Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily. "Quick, Hurry. You hide in one little cornstalk tent and I'll hide in one next door to you!"

Racing ahead of the Wolf, Uncle Wiggily squeezed in between the stalks of dried corn until he was in the middle of a shock. Baby Bunty squeezed into the shock next door to Mr. Longears.

Up came running the Wolf, sniffing and snuffing and snaffing.

"Where are those rabbits?" growled the Wolf. "I saw them here a moment ago, and I want to nibble their ears! But they are gone? Where are they?"

Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty, hidden in the cornstalks, heard what the Wolf asked, but of course they wouldn't answer him. Then the Wolf said:

"I believe they're hiding in one of these piles of corn! I'll nose them out!" He thrust his sharp nose inside a pile of cornstalks near Baby Bunty, but not the one where Uncle Wiggily was hiding. Baby Bunty peeked out and saw the Wolf with his back toward her.

All of a sudden Baby Bunty pulled loose a heavy cornstalk, and with it whacked the Wolf over the back.

"Ouch! Wouch! Smouch! Double wow!" howled the Wolf, who didn't see Baby Bunty. "This is no place for me, when cornstalks, all by themselves, whack you over the back. I'm going to run!"

And run away he did, and then Uncle Wiggily and Baby Bunty came out of their cornstalk hiding places.

"Oh, what a lovely adventure that was!" laughed Baby Bunty.

"I'm glad you liked it, and you certainly were smart!" said Mr. Longears. And if the blue bird doesn't turn green when he tries to take a bath in the red ink bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's pumpkin lantern.

They Say That

When asked, "What do you expect from an audience?" an American orchestra leader replies:

"That the men and women composing it should not have eaten too much before coming to the concert; that they have had sufficient rest before the time for beginning the program in order to be in the mood to receive what the conductor has to offer; to be partakers in the performance—to lend themselves, thereby sending to the conductor a magnetic quality of life and comprehension of what is going on. It is not a question of applause, but rather of that subtle something which a conductor gets or does not get and which inspires or depresses him as the case may be. An audience has much to contribute."

Here is something worth considering by the individuals making up audiences, not only musical audiences, but dramatic and lecture audiences and every other kind, including church congregations.

The audience that merely sits back and waits passively for musician or defiantly for actor or orator to entertain it not only puts a damper on the spirits of the entertainer, but bars itself from pleasure and instruction. All entertainment is a mutual thing, and entertainer and audience are both at their best when they do their best to help each other.

The practical suggestions about not coming to an entertainment too full of food or too worn out from work to appreciate what is offered are good. American music and drama have suffered much from the "tired business man" evil, due as much to overeating as overworking.

Surely any concert or play or lecture worth going to at all is worth the effort to have mind and body fit for intelligent appreciation.

Mrs. Curran Visited By Musical Family

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Gronkienicz and daughters, Misses Irene and Dana Gronkienicz, a Polish family of talented musicians, who are making their home in Los Angeles, were guests over Sunday of Mrs. Pearl Curran and Miss Hazel Linkogel, of 214 East Chestnut street. Miss Irene, who is a talented violinist, and Miss Linkogel, violinist of this city, are to appear on the program to be given on Armistice Day at the Polish hall in Los Angeles. Piano accompaniment will be played by Mrs. Curran.

Hazel Linkogel and Sister Broadcast

Miss Hazel Linkogel, talented violinist, who is gaining recognition in a wide circle, and her sister, Mrs. Pearl Curran, concert pianiste, both of 214 East Chestnut street, this city, will be featured on the program that is to be broadcasted over the radio Saturday night, Nov. 11, by the Earl C. Anthony company, KFI.

Nervous Stomach CAUSES GAS

Gas in the stomach and bowels doesn't always result from dyspepsia, improper diet or the fermentation of food. In most cases it is due to a highly sensitive condition of the stomach nerves.

To get rid of the trouble, you must build up and strengthen these weak, irritated nerves of the stomach. Taking artificial digesters, such as pepsin or bismuth, only makes the stomach weaker than ever. It is like using dope to deaden a pain—the relief given is deceptive and harmful.

Baalmann's Gas Tablets act directly upon the affected nerves and gradually assist in restoring them to their natural, healthy state. Gas and bloating will quickly disappear, and you will no longer be bothered with pain around your heart, palpitation, shortness of breath, gnawing at the pit of the stomach or distress after eating, due to gas. Ask for Baalmann's Gas Tablets in the famous yellow package. Price $1. Sold by Roberts & Echols. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE GREAT EQUALIZER

"Put off thy cares with thy clothes. So shall thy rest strengthen thy labor and so shall thy labor sweeten thy rest."—Quarles.

Isn't sleep a delicious thing?

Something brought to my mind the other day an occasion when I got frightfully tired. Everything went wrong on the trip we were making, we had eleven hours' hard traveling instead of the five we expected and arrived at 7 o'clock, in that completely exhausted, edgy state of mind when you tip over and drop everything you touch from sheer nervous weariness, and then feel as if you should weep because you have to pick the thing up. But the thing that stands out the most about the adventure was the sleep I had that night. A comfortable bed awaited me and oh, the luxury of relaxing aching muscles between cool sheets. Oh, the deliciousness of the drowsiness that almost instantly drifted over me; and oh, the heavenly renewal of strength that an eleven-hour sleep brought me!

A Fine Quality of Sleep

You can't have a sleep like that unless you get very tired physically and not too tired mentally.

The quality of sleep you get then is as different from ordinary sleep as the savor of food when you are thoroughly hungry is from its savor when you come to a meal with a peckish appetite.

"The sleep of a laboring man is sweet," said King Solomon, and I wonder how he knew. He might have surmised that a laboring man would sleep better than a thinker like himself, but he could not have used that wonderful adjective "sweet" unless he had had some personal vital experience. Maybe, among the other things he tried out when he gave his heart "to seek and search out by wisdom concerning all things that are done under the sun," he tried living the life of a laboring man incognito for a little while. Who knows? I wouldn't put it by him, for he certainly seems to have had a wonderful curiosity about life.

The Laborer's Compensation

Anyhow, I am glad the sleep of a laboring man is sweet. It is one of the compensations that level things up in life more than we know, perhaps. "It is not for a man in authority to sleep a whole night," said Homer. The man in authority may have many luxuries, but the perfect sweetness of sleep is the laboring man's luxury. Just as the rich man may have all sorts of elaborate sauces to make his food palatable, while the man who works with his hands has the one sauce that gives food a more delicious flavor than anything the most skilled chef could devise.

Blessings On Its Inventor

Sometimes it seems as if this world were full of unbearable inequalities, and then again one wonders if the inequalities are not less than they seem.

Now, how has it happened that a talk which started on the joy of perfect sleep, has gotten itself transformed into a talk of equalities and inequalities. Perhaps you will forgive me if I give it unity by ending, as I began, with a thought on sleep.

"Blessings on him who first invented sleep. It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak. It is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot. It makes the shepherd equal to the monarch and the fool to the wise." —Cervantes.

THEATRES

The Glendale

Harold Lloyd comedies have a 100 per cent achievement record for giggles, smiles, guffaws, chortles, hysterics and hurricanes of mirth and "Grandma's Boy," now at the Glendale Theatre, gives you more than enough to laugh about and then food for thought as well.

The theme of "Grandma's Boy" centers about that most cherished of American ideals, courage. Lloyd is the boy, who all his life has been gripped by fear. One day after his weakness has been driven very forcibly home to him and he is filled with shame his little, old-fashioned grandma tells him a marvelous story of how his grandfather overcame his cowardice with the aid of a charm given him by a gypsy. Grandma gives the boy the charm and what he does then is too good to tell.

The T. D. & L.

Election returns will be flashed on the T. D. & L. theatre screen tonight in connection with the regular program, which includes the feature film "Lorna Doone" and entertainment by Jean Gill, Orpheum favorite.

"Lorna Doone" is a most successful romantic novel that has run through countless editions and has been read and enjoyed by millions and has now been brought to the screen by Maurice Tourneur. In his hands the fine old novel has been transformed into a modern screen triumph.

Critics throughout the coutry have voiced the opinion that in "Lorna Doone," the "poet producer" has filmed the biggest picture of his entire career.

SHOULD A DOCTOR TELL THE TRUTH?

While I was in Boston recently, I heard a famous doctor give a lecture on medical ethics to the Harvard medical students.

Among other things he discussed whether a physician should tell the truth to his patients, and inferred that he should do that little thing.

Of course, he added, he did not mean that a doctor should open his mouth and push all his intimate knowledge of pathology, causes, symptoms and consequences of disease to his patients, but I gathered that if the lecturer thought the patient was going to die he considered it a good idea to tell that patient so.

I disagree with him entirely. When I was practicing medicine the more I thought a patient was going to die, the more I assured him that he would be up and doing, somebody, right soon. And often he was!

I got that wisdom by a little experience I had once when I thought the same as the lecturer. I had charge of a tuberculosis ward and one of the patients, a shrewish old lady who really was ready to interview St. Peter, asked me what I thought of her case and how long it would take her to get well.

I gave her a sweet, philosophical talk on death — how we all have to die—why even I, big, robust to bursting, expected to die some time—we might as well be sports about it, eh what?

My word! She disrupted the whole ward after I left. I clean lost my discipline. She said I was a fool, an idiot, and her idea of nothing at all. The idea of a doctor telling a patient she was going to die! The fact that she did die in a couple of days no doubt she blamed on me.

It taught me a lesson. If we doctors always knew, it might be different. But do we?

Of course if this doctor in question—he is a very famous diagnostician—if he tells a patient that he has to die, I suppose the patient just naturally has to do it. But we are not all so infallible as that expert diagnostician.

And I would like to ask this doctor if he has not heard of the numerous persons who say they were given up to die by at least five or six of us, and then they began to study this, that or the other cult, changed their mental attitude, stopped thinking about themselves, and got well?

Their evidence goes to show how foolish it is for any doctor to prognosticate the demise of any patient.

So I differ with the lecturer. After my experience I never gave a patient up to die until I saw the undertaker arriving with his coffin.

Of course, if the patient was a person of property, and had not made out his will, and there would be litigation and trouble from this fact when he did die, a physician who took the same stand that I do would come in for a bit of censure. I would advise in such a case that the doctor let the family know the seriousness of the patient's condition and let them attend to the will part before the end. They might not be so successful as the noted Conan Doyle in getting in touch afterward.

In case the doctor does this, it would be well for him to tell the family this story I read recently, so they might avoid the same error.

An old Scotsman, David Gordon, was seriously ill, with scant hope of recovery. He had been wheedled by relatives into making a will and they were now gathered about his bedside watching him laboriously sign it. He got as far as D-a-v-i—, then fell back exhausted.

"D, Uncle David, D," exhorted a nephew.

What do you think about this question, my readers? Let's have some snappy letters—not more than 150 to 200 words—on it, shall we?

It can come in our column all right. In fact, there isn't anything that we want to discuss that cannot come in it if we want it to, for there are very few things that do not have some bearing on health. You see, our column title "Diet and Health"—that "and Health" gives us license to disport ourselves in any manner we want to. Let's go!

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase.....

CHILDREN'S TEETH

The president of the National Dental association, in convention at Los Angeles in July of this year, stated that the number of cavities for each man, woman and child was increasing at an alarming rate—that there is now an average of five cavities for each man, woman and child in the United States and Canada.

If that statement is true, and I am sure the dector has statistics to prove it, it is a serious condition of affairs. Let us get down to fundamentals and ascertain, if we may, the causes of decayed teeth, together with the remedy.

We all realize the importance of children having sound teeth with which to masticate their food properly. We also realize that decayed teeth do a great deal of harm. They interfere with the proper chewing of the food, which makes digestion more difficult. Absorption of poisons from such teeth is often the cause of serious diseases of the glands, the joints or the heart. Besides, decayed teeth cause bad breath, spoil the good looks and lead later to toothache and much discomfort.

My interest is always particularly keen in any subject that affects little children. I have lectured and written a great deal in the last several years in regard to diet for children containing the bone and teeth making materials. It is a subject which all mothers are, or should be, interested in.

From my own observations, I am very sure that improper food is the direct cause of decayed teeth in children, in a large percentage of cases. My readers will no doubt be interested in an interview I have recently had with the dentist who is a children's specialist, and who has a large number of children constantly under observation. These children are of various ages and come from homes of both the rich and the poor.

Here are some of the questions I propounded, together with the answers, briefly given:

Question—"Do you find that the children coming under your care have an unusually large number of cavities?"

Answer—"Yes, indeed. Here is one little girl but 2 years old with six cavities." (She was a plump, rosy cheeked child, bright and happy.)

Question—"What, in your opinion, is the cause of these decayed teeth?"

Answer—"In this instance, the child has had too many sweets with improper cleaning of the teeth."

Question—"Then you think that the principal cause of decayed teeth is lack of care?"

Answer—"Yes, lack of proper brushing of the teeth. Children should not use pastes or powders. When they do, they will not brush the back teeth. They should use a dry brush, to be followed with plenty of cold water."

Question — "If the children are taken to a reliable dentist as soon as the tiniest caviety appears, would it be a benefit to the permanent teeth?"

Answer—"The first set of teeth require attention. If they are neglected the permanent teeth are glected the permanent teeth are likely to be seriously injured."

Question—"Do you not think that, in some instances at least, the foods containing the bone and teeth making materials have not been given to these children?"

Answer—"Yes, a great many of them are badly undernourished. Take this boy for instance. He is undersized and cries easily and has every symptom of malnutrition. He eats too many sweets, and so has no appetite for the foods he should have.

Question — "Then you would say that the important cause of decayed teeth are lack of cleanliness, improper foods and the eating of too many sweets?"

Answer — "Yes, emphatically. Mothers should understand the importance of what 'plain, wholesome food' means, and see to it that their children are provided with it."

Tomorrow — Plain, wholesome food.

Book Reviews

"Who Is Sylvia?" is the title of Marian Ames Taggert's new book, which was recently published by Doubleday, Page & Company. This story of the "little Captain Sylvia," in Miss Taggart's earlier books, opens on the morning after her eighteenth birthday. She is still a delightful child who loves to romp with her dog, to dance and play and cruise about in "The Walloping Window Blind."

Of the swains that commend here there are three: Gerald, the doctor, who is dreadfully mature since he is six years older than she; Jack Jarvis, the fabulously rich youth from New York; and Lloyd, quiet and dependable as Gibraltar. To Sylvia they are all dearest friends, but one day out in "The Walloping Window Blind" she decides that she will always like Lloyd best, Lloyd and her father. This is a book girls will love, but there is no age limit for those who have not forgotten the time when all the earth was young and gay, and the sunshine was never far from the shadow.

"A Jongleur Strayed," the new book of poems by Richard LeGallienne, which Doubleday, Page & Company published on Oct. 13, is a collection of lyrics sung by a minstrel of the Middle Ages strayed into the twentieth century. Like the minstrels who wandered from castle to castle in medieval France or Norman England, and sang of love and laughter, sometimes of a sadder and more haunting beauty, occasionally—for the jongleur like the jester was privileged beyond the common lot of men at court — dared to lift their voices in poignant cries against injustice and oppression—so in this volume LeGallienne ranges from sprightly, tender love lyrics to the sharpest satire. As ever Mr. LeGallienne is a magician with the music of words, with exquisite cadences and perfect metrical forms.

Massacre Trial to Start Wednesday

MARION, Ill., Nov. 7. — The Herrin massacre trial will begin here tomorrow.

The six men who have been held in jail without bail will be tried first. They are: Bert G. Race, Otis Clark, Philip Fontanetta, Peter Hiller, Oscar Howard, Jesse Childers.

Four hundred and twenty-four indictments were returned by the special grand jury, 205 for murder, 116 for conspiracy and 103 for assault to commit murder.

The trial is expected to take up weeks.

Turk Forces Plan to Seize Peninsula

LONDON, Nov. 7.—An unconfirmed report today said that Turkish sailing vessels had disembarked their troops at Lapsaki, planning to seize Gallipoli peninsula during the absence of allied warships changing patrols. Gallipoli peninsula is European territory, flanking the Dardanelles on the north.

Louisiana is the greatest bird refuge.

BEAUTY CHATS by EDNA KENT FORBES

ANSWERED LETTERS

Cherie—Sweet fruit is more fattening than the acid variety, so you can form your judgment accordingly.

C. B. C.—The woman at 24 years, 5 feet 1½ inches, should weigh 115 pounds, and the man who is 41, 5 feet, 9¾ inches, should weigh 160 pounds.

Tarzan—Most men would be pleased to have your heavy growth of hair, since it indicates great physical endurance. As you come by this naturally, do not let the condition embarrass you nor try to get rid of it, other than giving yourself a clean shave each morning.

Peggy—You need a hair tonic and the scalp should have a daily stimulating massage with the finger tips. Send me a s. a. e. for the tonic formula.

Alice G.—You are a little too fat. Wear shoes with round toes, low heels and made on a last which allows the large toe to lie straight. This is the first thing to do in curing a bunion. A good chiropodist can treat this trouble for you.

Embarrassed—Dance with your girl friends until you are more sure of yourself or dance alone until you do it better.

Mrs. G. M.—The splotchy skin and blackheads show digestive or bowel troubles. Diet and continue your outdoor exercise and skin treatments.

J. B.—If curls are becoming, wear them, even though you are 18. Blonde hair, in order to keep its luster, needs plenty of sunning, especially while drying after a shampoo.

Mrs. P.—If the baby's hair is thick and healthy, do nothing to it other than keep it clean by means of shampoos with castile soap or cocoanut oil and water; in addition to this massage the scalp gently with the finger tips each day. The message is strengthening and will make the hair as rich and thick as desired. Having blue eyes she will look very well in blue, especially if combined with yellow. Bronze and dark browns will bring out the red brown lights in her hair.

Mabel—Sage and sulphur is a most harmless stain for brown hair. However, if yours is just beginning to turn, try what effect treatments with tonics and a massage will have.

Tomorrow — Weekly Hand Treatments.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

MAPS OF OIL, GAS FIELDS

A new oil and gas map of West Virginia is the latest addition to the geological survey's series of state maps showing the oil and gas fields of the United States. One who glances at the map immediately realizes two important facts—that West Virginia leads the gas producing states of the country in the volume of natural gas it produces, and that in this state, as in Pennsylvania, the eastern limit of gas production lies a few miles beyond the eastern limit of oil production.

THE AMERICAN WOMAN IS THE BEST DRESSED WOMAN IN THE WORLD

Correct hair dress has aided her wonderfully in attaining that position.

In line with our policy of always showing the latest and the best in fine hair goods, we are displaying the new side waves, American Bobs, curls, ear puffs, front waves, braids and transformations.

The side parted, ventilated pomp is worn to cover gray or thin hair and also to avoid the necessity of dyeing the hair. It has a most natural appearance.

The cutie curls dressed into open ringlets for the side is very desirable for the young girl.

The coronet combination is used to aid in concealing short and straggling hairs and construct a neat and attractive coiffure.

The display of imported toilet fancies, and hair ornaments in our windows will interest you.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

GLENDALE PROPERTY

Bear Bros. Bargains

We have a few bargains left in bungalows, homes, business property, lots, etc., that we will be glad to show you, they go fast so don't wait, we are only giving a few of our many.

5 rooms on west Colorado, mantel, built-ins, all modern, in first class condition. $5,250 with $1,250 cash, balance to suit.

5 rooms, exceptional bargain on West Elk, owner works in L. A. and says sell, we can recommend this as one of our very best buys and are not afraid to compare it with any other place in Glendale as to price, modern in every way and will sell, the price is right, $5,250, $2,000 cash and $50.00 month.

5 rooms on Pioneer drive, owner going East and must sell before Dec. first, this place is priced right and will not last long, we will be glad to show this and can recommend it at the price $5,500. Must have $2,500 cash, balance mo.

5 rooms, good buy on West Myrtle where prices are always high, we can give you an exceptional good buy on this, modern and up to date. $5,500, small cash payment, balance mo.

5 rooms, all modern and up to date, on West Myrtle; let us show you this, $5,750, $1,750 cash to handle, and $35.00 mo.

We have a wonderful place on North Central, eleven lovely rooms, two-story and a real home for particular people, $12,900, one-fourth cash, balance mo.

8-room duplex, 4 rooms each side, rental value of $70.00 month. This price includes the lot also, only $6,800 with $2,000 cash, balance monthly.

10-room duplex, has a rental value of $80.00 month and can be increased to $100.00. We are giving you a deed to the lot with this one at only $7,100. Go have a duplicate of it figured and then if we are not right about it we are ready to make an apology. We say it will cost you almost $7,000 to build it if not more. $2,000 handles, with a monthly balance.

8-room duplex on West Lexington, with a four-room bungalow in rear, good rental value and we have a very close price on this for this week only. Owner wants to go back east and says make the sacrifice, you cannot go wrong on this, for good reasons we cannot quote the price here. Come and see us about this and we feel sure that you will agree with us that it is a bargain.

CLASSY CARD FOR RING FANS HERE

Real Program of Sport Is Arranged for Wednesday Night's Show

C. M. Hare, chairman of the boxing committee of the local organization of Modern Woodmen of America, has announced that Joe Kelly, who easily outpointed Ted Southerner in the main even last Wednesday night, will again appear as a main attraction in this week's card. He will be pitted against Christopher Columbus, Los Angeles welterweight who knocked out "Battling Red" last week in one of the preliminaries. Both men are capable mitt artists, the former being a boxer in every sense of the word and the latter being classed more in the "slugger" division. Such a combination should result in a real battle.

In the semi-windup "Kid" French, local 150-pounder who has been making such an enviable record during the past few weeks, is matched against "Kid" Wop of Los Angeles. Although this will be Wop's first appearance in Glendale he comes here with a long string of victories to his credit, which should be sufficient to insure a good bout with French.

Big Boys to Meet.

What will probably prove to be the feature bout of the evening will be the match between Battling Chico and "Kid" Juarez, a pair of husky Angelenos who tip the beam in the neighborhood of the 170-pound mark. It will be the first time in several months in which a light heavy weight tilt will have been staged, and the fans will probably be treated to an abundance of action when the big fellows tangle.

"Kid" Essick, local 120 pound scrapper whose bout was postponed last week on account of illness, will appear for the first time in over a month when he meets Harry Tufo of Los Angeles in one of the special preliminaries. Both of these boys are lightning fast with their "dukes" and should prove to be an even match.

The curtain raiser will bring together two of the peppiest performers on the entire program, Young Jack and John Brown being the principals involved. They will fight at 130 pounds.

Steals for Family; Set Free by Police

CHICAGO.—Michael Hammerman, messenger for the Amalgamated Trust & Savings Bank, 371 West Jackson boulevard, confessed that he had concocted a story of robbery in Garfield Park to get $689 of the bank's money.

His confession detailed his struggle to maintain his wife and child on a wage of $130 a month. The story so affected Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes that he allowed Hammerman to return to his home after the money had been recovered.

STANFORD SQUAD HAS GOOD CHANCE

Trojans May Get Surprise In Saturday's Contest on Cardinal Gridiron

With the 1922 football season past the half-way mark the members of the Stanford university gridiron squad, according to precedent, are now rounding into the top of their form for the first time since the first workout in the early part of September. This fact is fully realized by Gloomy Gus Henderson, who is facing the task of taking his battling University of Southern California Trojans to Palo Alto Saturday to face the Cardinals in their own back yard.

Last week's 17 to 7 victory of Stanford over the scrapping University of Nevada squad proved beyond a doubt that the proteges of Andy Kerr and Tiny Thornhill are no longer the joke which the early season contests represented them as being, but that they rank among the first three squads on the coast. After losing to the Olympic club of San Francisco in the second game of the season by the overwhelming score of 27 to 9, the Cardinals were at once doped as a "weak sister." However, the indomitable fighting spirit of the Palo Alto gridders will from now on command the respect of any aggregation in the country.

Sees Cardinal Victory

That the Cardinal students and supporters are counting on a victory over the southerners is indicated in the statement of Coach Thornhill, who, after witnessing the California-U. S. C. battle, claims that the Trojan squad is entirely a defensive team and that the strong Stanford line will hold the Cardinal and Gold backs as did the Californians. The northerners point with pride to the fact that their goal line has been crossed by a college player but once this year, and then only through a rank fluke, when Captain Hobbs of the Nevada Sagebrushers scooped up a fumble on the fifteen-yard line and raced the length of the field for a touchdown.

That the Stanford line is fully as strong as the forward wall of the California Bears, is the claim of both the coaches and players of the squad. Whether or not this is true will only be decided after Captain Leo Calland and his peppy band of Trojans have toiled with them for the greater part of an hour.

While Stanford is going ahead and claiming a win over the U. S. C. eleven, Gloomy Henderson and his efficient corps of assistants are putting in a considerable amount of overtime out at Bovard Feld. Fully aware of the potentialities of the Stanford outfit the Trojan mentor is sparing no effort in getting his team in the best possible condition for the conflict, which promises to be the most important in the Pacific coast conference this week.

Offers No Excuses

With practically all of the first string men enjoying a two weeks' rest, and with last Saturday's contest with Occidental college being nothing more than a mild workout for those who did participate, there will be little or no excuse for the players being in poor condition. Chet Dolley and Bullet Baker, the only players who were injured at all in the California game, are now entirely over their ailments and both claim they are in for the best game of their careers next Saturday.

The Trojan lineup will undoubtedly be made up of the same faces which appeared against the Bears two weeks ago, although it is expected that Phil Tiernan, Otto Anderson, the Galloway brothers, Riddle or Wayahn will break into the backfield before the close of the contest. The dope points to a U. S. C. victory of about two touchdowns.

Soccer Teams Meet In Contest Today

The Santa Monica Intermediate School Soccer team will play the Wilson Avenue Senior team today at the Wilson Avenue school grounds at 3:30 p. m. The Wilson Avenue team went to Santa Monica last week and defeated the team on its home grounds with a score of 2 to 0. The team is coached by Charles Merrill.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young. Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

BUILDING PERMIT RECORD OF EAGLE ROCK CLIMBING

$7000 Day Average Needed for $200,000 Roal Exceeded Monday

The daily average of $7,000 that is necessary to reach the predicted $200,000 building mark in Eagle Rock for the month of November, was exceeded Monday when permits totaling over $11,000 were issued to Eagle Rock builders.

Counting out Sunday, there has been only five days up to Monday night when permits have been issued at the city hall, and yet during that time the total permits have amounted to almost $40,000.

Robert Wagner Smith, was issued a permit to build a five-room dwelling at 244 South Satsuma to cost $3,200.

Mrs. A. Henderson, to build a garage at 500 Stanley avenue to cost $350.

Esther A. Whitney to build a five room residence at 811 Waldron to cost $3,000.

Catherine L. Gilbride, to build a five room residence at 237 North Royal Drive to cost $4600.

The man who knows the least talks the most.

Collision of Auto and Truck Reported

According to records of the Eagle Rock police department a truck belonging to the Eagle Rock Hardware & Furniture company was in collision with an automobile driven by J. F. Hoggerty of 339 West Workman avenue, Los Angeles, late Saturday afternoon.

The truck is reported to have been driven by C. A. Bruch, residing at 117 South Peyton avenue, Eagle Rock, and when in the vicinity of the 600 block on West Avenue 33 collided with Hoggerty's machine which the written report states was parked in the middle of the street with the rear door left open.

Church Men Approve Action of Trustees

A vote of thanks from twenty members of the Men's Bible class of the Presbyterian church, and signed by their secretary, G. A. Thompson, in which gratitude was expressed to the Eagle Rock board of trustees for its action in denying the application for a permit to operate a pool hall on South Glendale avenue, which was tendered the board at its session last evening.

The board denied the permit last week, when it is understood, the P. T. A. strongly protested against the issuance of such a permit in Eagle Rock.

C. OF C. AT EAGLE ROCK HOLDS BIG MEET TONIGHT

Many Important Civic Topics Are Scheduled to Come Up for Discussion

The Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce meets tonight at its first open meeting since the election of new officers at the office of The Eagle Rock Daily News, 113 East Colorado boulevard.

Notices have been sent out to over 200, including members and those who have made application recently, and a large enthusiastic meeting is expected.

The new officers are: O. J. Root, president; Dr. H. B. Crawford, H. G. Warren and A. L. McCammon, vice presidents; Fred E. Biles, treasurer; George Van Sands, secretary, and Dr. J. C. Shedd, H. H. Maxson and C. W. Jones, members of the executive committee.

These officers were elected early in October, and the meeting tonight is the first open meeting of the chamber under the new regime.

According to the secretary, the executive officers have had several closed meetings within the past few weeks, and standing committees, whose purpose is to carry on the major portion of the work of the chamber for the coming year, have been tentatively named, but under the by-laws of the organization their final appointment rests by vote of the members at the open meeting tonight.

Another matter of much importance that will come up for discussion tonight will be the question of the proposed increase of the yearly dues. The membership fee was originally $1 per year and it was only recently that this was increased to $2. It is now claimed that it is absolutely vital to the welfare of the organization that the rates again be increased. Just what the proposed yearly rate is to be is not known, but it is generally understood that it will be at least $5 per year and possible $10.

Another matter of importance that will be brought up will be the plans for the big Chamber of Commerce banquet that is to be held the evening of November 16 at the Twentieth Century Woman's club. Milton T. Hancock, chairman of the entertainment committee, is in charge of the plans, and it is understood that arrangements he has in view in the way of the actual entertainment for the banquet are most novel and will make the event long to be remembered. It is believed that the details of his plans will also be brought before the members.

The new officers make special appeal that every member who can possibly do so be present at the meeting tonight. It is hoped that the meeting will be one of the largest in the history of the organization. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock sharp.

EAGLE ROCK CLUB ENTERTAINS WITH BIG CARD PARTY

Moving Pictures Are Taken Around Flag Pole in Business District

The spacious rooms of the beautiful club-house of the Eagle Rock Twentieth Century club were artistically decorated and a log fire was burning in the huge fire place yesterday afternoon for the occasion of the second card party of the season given by members of the club.

Mrs. F. T. Kiene, Canyon Trail won first prize. Mrs. Hart of North Fairmont won second prize, and Mrs. L. A. Richards of Glendale took the consolation prize.

There were five tables and over twenty ladies played. The card game chosen by Mrs. Fred S. Hanaford and Mrs. Grace L. Sherwood, the hostesses, was Five Hundred. Tea and home-made cookies were served as refreshments.

Pictures Are Taken.

The downtown district around the flag-pole in Eagle Rock was again entertained almost all day yesterday when a moving picture company took several more scenes of a comedy that is claimed to feature the activity of the Eagle Rock police in making traffic arrests.

The main characters in yesterday's scenes appeared to be a white haired blind-man, a policeman and a chauffeur, and the climax was reached when three automobiles were brought together in a realistic fake smashup at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue. This brought out crowds of interested spectators who for a moment thought they were witnessing a real collision.

New Store Popular.

Walter F. Meyer, proprietor of the new drug store at the corner of Broadway and Ellis avenue, in Eagle Rock, reports a large crowd of visitors visited his establishment on Saturday the day of the formal opening.

The new store, known as the Glen-Rock Pharmacy is declared to be a great convenience for people in the West end of Eagle Rock and the East end of Glendale.

Both Mr. Meyer and his wife, who is assisting him in the store, were reported to have been kept busy almost all day Saturday serving free ice cream to the visitors.

OLD BALL PLAYER DIES

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—Sam Thompson, 62, famous old-time baseball player, dropped dead here at his home today. He was an outfielder with the old Detroit team when it won the world's championship in 1887. Thompson for many years held the batting championship of the world.

Application of C. L. Brenkman for refund on electrical permit in the sum of $3.90, was, on motion of Councilman Davis, approved, and ordered refunded.

To Amend Zoning Ordinance

On motion of Councilman Davis, City Attorney was instructed to amend Section 11, of Ordinance No. 529, by substituting 75 per cent for 50 per cent.

Heat Council Chamber.

On motion of Councilman Davis, City Manager was instructed to authorize the gas company to install three gas steam heating radiators, in the Council Chamber at a cost of approximately $240.

Gas Contract Is Void.

Communication received from the Southern California Gas company regarding contract for installing gas mains, was read and on motion of Councilman Stephenson the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, it appears that the contract entered into between the Southern California Gas company, a corporation, as first party, and the City of Glendale, as second party, on the 14th day of September, 1922, in the matter of Municipal Improvement District No. 6, of said City is void by reason of the fact that the notice inviting bids for the work herein described was only published once, and said Southern California Gas Company has declared its willingness to rescind said contract on account of its said invalidity, and a draft of contract for said rescission is now submitted to this Council, now therefore, be it resolved by the Council of the City of Glendale, that the Mayor and the City Clerk are hereby authorized and directed to execute said rescinding contract in behalf of the City of Glendale, and the City Clerk is hereby directed to affix the seal of the City thereto; and be it further resolved that all action heretofore taken adopting specifications for said work is hereby rescinded, and those certain specifications now presented, to this Council and endorsed "Specifications for Gas Pipe and Fittings for Municipal Improvement District No. 6, of the City of Glendale," are hereby adopted as specifications for the work to be done in the matter of said Municipal Improvement District No. 6, and the City Clerk is hereby directed to file said specifications as of this day, November 6, 1922, and the City Clerk is hereby directed to advertise for bids for doing the work described in said specifications by two insertions of notice inviting such bids in the Glendale Daily Press, the official newspaper of the City of Glendale, said bids to be opened by this Council at 7 o'clock P. M. of November 20th, 1922.

Demand.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, the sum of $250.00 was ordered transferred from the Advertising Promotion Fund to the Armistice Day Celebration committee.

Ordinances Adopted.

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, the following Ordinance was adopted as Ordinance No. 688, "An ordinance of the City of Glendale ordering the opening and laying out of Dorothy Drive, in said City."

Resolutions Adopted.

On motion of Councilman Lapham, the following resolution was adopted as Resolution No. 1736, "A resolution of the Council of the City of Glendale, ordering certain improvements to be made on a portion of Doran street, Columbus Avenue, and San Fernando Road and on certain streets and alleys intersecting or terminating therewith in the City of Glendale."

City Engineer reported the bid of Cornwell & Henderson as the lowest responsible bidder for the improvement of Kenneth Road, Sonora avenue, Ruberta avenue, Winchester avenue, Raymond avenue, Thompson avenue, etc. On motion of Councilman Stephenson, the bid of Cornwell & Henderson, was accepted, and Resolution No. 1737, "Resolution of Award of Contract," was adopted.

On motion of Councilman Davis, the following resolution was adopted, as Resolution No. 1738, "A resolution adopting map of Tract No. 4717 and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys, and public places shown thereon."

On motion of Councilman Stephenson, the following resolution was adopted, as Resolution No. 1739, "A resolution adopting map of Tract No. 4770, Sheet 4, and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys, and public places thereon."

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, the following resolution was adopted, as Resolution No. 1740, "A resolution adopting map of Tract No. 5751, and accepting on behalf of the public the avenues, streets, alleys, and public places shown thereon."

On motion of Councilman Kimlin, the easement of B. Guthrie and Pearl C. Guthrie, his wife, to the City of Glendale, dated October 26, 1922, was accepted, and the clerk directed to record the same.

Furniture Company Gets Big Contract

A big order came to an Eagle Rock concern when the Eagle Rock Hardware and Furniture company was awarded the contract to furnish the following equipment for the new city hall.

The opera chairs for the council chamber, massive director's table to be used as the council table, a typewriter desk and the linoleum for both wings of the building.

It is understood that the board found they could buy what they wanted right at home at the same price they would have had to pay in Los Angeles, and it is believed that this is the reason that prompted the award to the local concern.

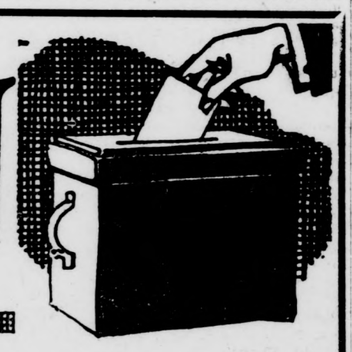
ELECTION



Returns Show that H. L. Miller Wins Greatest Majority of Fire Insurance Business of Glendale

His success was due to his platform and these important issues upon which his campaign for business has been waged for many years.

ECONOMY—First, we save our clients money. We give you a policy in strong independent companies and handle it for twenty per cent less than the ordinary insurance agent. If you want to SAVE, do your fire insurance business here as we guarantee to save 20% on each policy.

CAPABILITY—Our experience in writing fire insurance for a term of over thirty years particularly equips us to handle your business most efficiently. We have a thorough knowledge of the leading companies and how to properly handle all policies.

COMPANIES—We represent twelve strong, independent companies, each of which pays all claims promptly on demand. Investigation will prove to you that at no other local agency do you have the unrestricted choice of so many high grade companies.

RELIABILITY—How often fire insurance is written by some real estate operator, or some agent who is only in business for a temporary period. When you have a loss, there is no agent to assure of service. H. L. Miller has been in business in Southern California for twenty-seven years and his financial standing is unquestioned.

SERVICE—This agency gives each policy holder an unusual service. We keep track of your policy and we are particular to see that you know the date it expires and to see that your insurance is properly handled in every way. All claims are paid promptly and fairly.
H. E. Rice, manager of Real Estate department, has anything you would want in good buys.
